Many Feared Dead As Plane Crashes With 134 On Board

Big Military Craft Burns In Takeoff Mishap

Moses Lake, Wash., Scene Of Disaster; Some Escape Injury

BULLETIN
MOSES LAKE, Wash. (AP) — A huge C-124 Globemaster transport plane taking service men home for the holidays crashed and burned here early today, and three hours later the Air Force estimated about 86 of the 134 aboard were killed. This death toll would be the worst in aviation history.

MOSES LAKE, Wash. (AP) — A giant Globemaster transport plane taking service men home for Christmas crashed and burned this morning with 134 aboard. It appeared there was heavy loss of life.

"There were some dead, some injured and some escaped unhurt," said Maj. P. W. Wassum, Air Force public information officer.

There was no immediate estimate of the number of dead.

The C-124, biggest U. S. military plane in service, crashed from an undetermined cause about two miles off a Larson Air Force Base runway at 6:30 a. m. PST. (9:30 Salem time).

It had just taken off on a flight to Kelly Air Force Base at San Antonio, Tex. Maj. Wassum said most of the passengers were service men "hitchhiking" a ride home for Christmas.

The crash was the second Globemaster loss in six weeks, and the latest in a series of tragic military plane accidents since November. Another C-124 smashed against an Alaskan mountain last Nov. 22, killing 52.

Brig. Gen. H. W. Bowman announced the number aboard in today's crash as 134. This was two more than first reported. There was no immediate breakdown of crew and passengers, but a Globemaster normally has a crew of about 12.

Maj. Wassum said the Globemaster was making the hop to Texas as a "routine training."

The observant parent may not "flight" with service men taking advantage of the trip to get home for the holidays.

The C-124, big as a five-room house and capable of carrying as many as 200 combat troops, crashed only moments after the take off from its Eastern Washington base. Gasoline spilled from broken wing tanks and flames shot up.

The injured were rushed to hospitals at the air base and nearby Moses Lake.

80 Died In Wales Plane Crash In '50

NEW YORK (AP) — The crash of a huge military transport plane at Larson Air Force Base today may have taken the largest toll of human life in aviation history.

The highest total of lives lost in a plane crash to date occurred March 12, 1950, at Cardiff, Wales, when 80 persons were killed. Three survived the crash of the transport which was taking soccer fans home from a game in Ireland.

2 Girls Nabbed For Extortion

Teen-Agers Caught In Pittsburgh Trap

PITTSBURGH (AP) — FBI agents have arrested two teenage girls—one 14, the other 15—and charged them with attempting to extort a total of $30,000 from H. J. Heinz, president of the food firm bearing his name, and Arthur Rooney, owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League.

Fred Hallford, special agent in charge of the FBI office here, said his men had waited in vain six times for writers of extortion notes to the two prominent Pittsburghers to pick up the money they demanded. Then one night the two young girls walked into the darkness of a Northside Pittsburgh Park and picked up a package lying on a bench that allegedly contained $12,000. Instead it held a bundle of paper, worthless.

Hallford disclosed last night that the two girls had been arrested Thursday night. He declined to identify them, except to give their ages. He said both girls admitted writing the notes—10 in all—to Heinz, demanding $20,000 and to Rooney, demanding $10,000.

The extortion letters were similar, Hallford said. The girls threatened to harm the Rooney's 13-year-old twin sons and the 11-year-old son of Heinz.

The last of the threatening letters was sent to Heinz Dec. 13. Heinz was instructed to place the money in a package at the park. FBI agents who previously had kept a watch on the pickup spot went to the scene, again. This time the girls showed up.

Russia Expected To Utilize Veto To Defeat Move

Reds' Package Deal To Get 5 Satellites In Is Beaten Down

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Non-Communist nations gave overwhelming committee approval last night to U. N. membership for Japan, Libya, Jordan and three Indo-Chinese states. But there was little hope the applicants would escape a final Soviet veto.

The votes were a victory for the Western powers who also managed to beat down a Soviet bloc attempt to give membership to five Communist satellites in a package horse-swapping along with nine Western-backed applicants.

The 60-nation Assembly's Special Political Committee agreed by big margins to increase its number to 65 by bringing in U. S.-sponsored Japan, Arab-sponsored Libya and Jordan and the French-backed states of Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos. Only the five Soviet bloc members voted "no."

The results forecast more than the two-thirds majority required in the full General Assembly, which is expected to reach a vote on the proposed new members by tomorrow or Monday at the latest.

But the membership applications still must go to the Security Council where Russia is expected once again to hatchet them with the veto which has kept the question of new members in deadlock for six years.

Russia has consistently refused to let in any members unless her own candidates — Romania, Hungary, Albania, Bulgaria and Outer Mongolia — are also approved.

She claimed the package deal, introduced this year by Poland, was a compromise that would bring in more Western-backed candidates. But the U. S. and her allies said there can be "no deal" — that all members must be considered separately on their merits.

The package deal was defeated 28-20, with 11 abstentions, even after the committee agreed in advance to delete part of the Polish resolution calling for "simultaneous" admission.

New York Police Seize Arms For Cuban Revolt

MAMARONECK, N. Y. (AP) — Westchester County police raided an abandoned gasoline station in this New York City suburb yesterday and seized a large cache of munitions which authorities linked to a planned Cuban revolution.

The descent on the boarded-up station yesterday uncovered about two truckloads of napalm grenades, rifle grenades, bazooka shells, rifle clips, gunpowder, parachute flares and a drum of napalm powder.

After the raid police arrested three men, including 29-year-old munitions dealer Alfred Manheim. Westchester County Sheriff John E. Hoy and Asst. Dist. Atty. M. Morton Edmiston said Manheim told them he was collecting the arsenal in behalf of ex-President Carlos Prío Socarras of Cuba.

Later, however, Manheim denied to newsmen that he mentioned Cuba and said he was getting the munitions for an unidentified customer.

Pro Socarras fled to Mexico, then to Miami, Fla., from where he and his followers have been taking political potshots at the Batista regime.

The raid was staged after police became suspicious of unusual activity.

Taft To Become Floor Leader

Unopposed For Job He Will Seek

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Taft of Ohio was all but elected as the new Senate Republican floor leader today in a fresh burst of party harmony.

Backstage maneuvering for the post apparently came to an end yesterday with the announcement by Taft that he was a candidate for the job and that he had assurances from Sen. Bridges (R-NH) and Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) that they were not seeking it.

Taft's announcement was preceded earlier in the week by a statement from Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.) clearly indicating that President-elect Eisenhower had no objection to the Ohio senator becoming the GOP floor leader in the Senate session starting Jan. 3.

Carlson was one of Eisenhower's close advisers during the presidential campaign, and what he had to say was regarded by senators as signifying a desire by the President-elect to avoid any breach with Taft.

Earlier some senators had misgivings, not only because of Taft's fight against Eisenhower for the GOP presidential nomination but also because of his recent blast against the President-elect's choice of Martin P. Durkin to be secretary of labor.

Taft called the selection of Durkin for the Cabinet post an "incredible appointment," saying the Chicago union official was a Democrat.

Joseph "Spees" O'Keefe, 44, of Boston as one of the Brink's robbers. But since then, all papers having any connection with the holdup have been removed from files and hidden.

FBI Reportedly Holds 2nd Man In Brink's Case

Affidavits Name Him Robbery Participant; Crack O'Keefe Alibi

BOSTON (AP) — The FBI today reportedly has in custody a second man identified as a participant in the $1,219,000 Brink's holdup.

Reports last night said FBI affidavits named the unidentified man as having been in the group of hooded gunmen who escaped with the largest American cash haul after tying up five employees in the armored car firm's vaults on Jan. 17, 1950.

The man is described as 37 years old and having a long record. He is said to be in custody of the FBI but not necessarily in a penal institution. The inference was drawn that the man might "talk."

But U. S. Atty. George F. Garrity had no comment.

The information, learned by reporters, was said to be based on FBI affidavits no longer available. The papers reportedly said the man at one time had approximately $60,000 of the Brink's hold-up money in his possession.

First sworn affidavits, made available Thursday night, named Joseph "Spees" O'Keefe, 44, of Boston as one of the Brink's robbers. But since then, all papers having any connection with the holdup have been removed from files and hidden.

It also was reported in the Federal Building, where a grand jury is investigating the stickup, that FBI agents have cracked an alibi of O'Keefe, who has been cited by the jury for contempt in refusing to answer questions.

The Boston man has told police that on the night of the robbery he was drinking with a woman companion in an uptown hotel between 7 and 7:30 p.m. The robbery occurred about 7:10.

The number of reluctant witnesses cited on contempt charges by the grand jury for refusing to answer questions rose to 11 yesterday with the naming of two more persons.

The jury submitted presentments to U. S. Judge William T. McCarthy naming Thomas F. Richardson, a longshoreman, and Vincent Costa, a furniture mover.

THE GLAD TIDINGS OF CHRISTMAS will be told in scripture and song in the churches of the world and all the congregations of Salem's churches are joining in the joyous celebration with programs in special observance continuing through Christmas Day to Sunday, Dec. 28.

In some of the churches the weekday programs are primarily for children with the traditional Christmas treats and visits by Santa Claus. But choirs in the various churches will tell the story of the coming of the Christ Child in song and pageant and the ministers will bring the Christmas message.

The Christmas Story

In those days a decree went out from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be enrolled. This was the first enrollment, when Quirinius was governor of Syria. And all went to be enrolled, each to his own city. And Joseph also went up from Galilee, from the city of Nazareth, to Judea, to the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and lineage of David, to be enrolled with Mary, his betrothed, who was with child. And while they were there, the time came for her to be delivered. And she gave birth to her first-born son and wrapped him in swaddling cloths, and laid him in a manger, because there was no place for them in the inn.

And in that region there were shepherds out in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And an angel of the Lord appeared to them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were filled with fear. And the angel said to them, "Be not afraid; for behold, I bring you good news of a great joy which will come to all the people; for to you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord. And this will be a sign for you: you will find a babe wrapped in swaddling cloths and lying in a manger." And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying,

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men with whom he is pleased!"

When the angels went away from them into heaven, the shepherds said to one another, "Let us go over to Bethlehem and see this thing that has happened, which the Lord has made known to us." And they went with haste, and found Mary and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger.

YOU and the FUTURE
WHAT YOUR Adventist Neighbors BELIEVE

Seventh-day Adventists may be a little different, all right; but, everything considered, they are just ordinary folks.

They do not exhibit long faces, wear funny clothes, or bother anybody. They may participate in the community chorus or the Red Cross drive or other civic activities. Just like your other neighbors.

But still, they are "different." They don't smoke; but they won't preach at you if you do. They don't drink. They go to church faithfully (but on Saturday instead of Sunday) and they try to observe the Sabbath even when they aren't in church.

They operate 4,164 schools, 160 hospitals and clinics, 50 publishing houses and are established in 228 countries.

What is it that makes your Adventist neighbors the way they are? Well, in the first place, they put a great deal of emphasis on hope for the future.

They believe the end of the world is near and feel an urgent obligation to prepare themselves and others for it. They believe that a vital part of their message is "the hour of his judgment is come" (Revelation 14:7), and that this message must go to all the world to prepare a people for the soon return of Christ, the Saviour.

Your Seventh-day Adventist friends are quite orthodox. They believe the Bible from Genesis to Revelation. They adhere to observance of the Ten Commandments, having no part in present-day attempts to abolish them as a rule of right and the standard of God's judgment.

They also believe that the law condemns man completely, because its sole purpose is to point out sin—and we all have sinned. Our only hope of ever receiving life eternal is in accepting the unmerited favor of Christ. We are then under His grace. But the law is still there and will condemn us as often as we sin.

Adventists believe that the seventh day of the week, now called Saturday, was consecrated by God, according to the fourth commandment, at creation (Exodus 20:11) and has been observed by many faithful ones ever since, and they observe it today.

But they certainly do not believe that, because of this, they have an exclusive title to salvation. They believe that many an honest soul with an imperfect knowledge of truth will be saved by the grace of Jesus. But so far from being an unimportant quibble, they believe the matter of Sabbath observance is fully as important as any other commandment. The Sabbath is called God's "sign." No other day would do, any more than another flag would do for patriotic citizens!

They will show you that the substitution of Sunday for the Sabbath crept into the church long after the death of Christ, and was admittedly sanctioned by the church of later centuries and thus passed along to Protestantism today.

Seventh-day Adventists feel that they have a divine mission today in helping to "restore the old paths"—pointing mankind again to the requirements of God's law, and the grace of Jesus that saves us from its penalty.

They feel the urgency of world conditions permits no frivolous conduct, but demands a sober, rational outlook, brightened by the hope of an eternity in a new and perfect world.

This is No. 12 of a series, telling briefly of the beliefs and hopes of 750,000 of your Seventh-day Adventist neighbors and friends.

How To Make The Christmas Bells Ring

There is a wonderful old story about the bells of a famous church in a far-off country which I would like to tell this Christmas. I am sure you will find it deeply moving as I did.

These bells in this church were known all over the world for the beauty of their chiming; men said that their sound was the sweetest in all the world. Because their music was so wonderful, so many people came to the church to hear them ring. It was then that the Christmas bells would be heard.

But, strangely enough, despite the great reputation of these bells and their music, probably no living soul had ever heard them. Their lovely sound was known by tradition only, because for long years they had not rung. Fathers had handed on to sons the memory of their melody, but apparently people had been neglecting their offerings and the spirit of love, and no gift had recently been rich enough to evoke the ringing of the bells.

THIS BECAME in time a national scandal, and when Christmas came everyone resolved to bring the best and most luxurious gifts they could find. The king himself announced that he would carry his own gift to the church. Naturally, everyone planned to come to the city for this great event, but none more enthusiastically than two little boys who lived a long way from the city.

These two children were poor boys in a poor family, but somehow each had managed to save a small piece of silver coin to bring as an offering. And, early on the afternoon before Christmas, they started to walk to the city. It was a bitterly cold day, and they had not been walking very long before it started to snow. But, hand in hand, they trudged on through the snow and, just before dark they reached the city.

Suddenly they noticed, huddled in the snow, a woman, half-frozen but still alive. The older of the two boys knelt down to help her. He rubbed her face and wrists with snow and she began to breathe more normally. You go on to church," he told his younger brother. "Here's my offering. I'll have to stay and help her."

RELUCTANTLY the younger boy set off alone, the two pieces of silver clutched in his hand. The church was crowded but, being small, he managed to find a place near the altar. The procession of people bearing gifts had already started. Richer and more elaborate gifts followed each other to the altar, and the chimes were not heard. Finally the king himself appeared at the altar. With a dramatic gesture, he placed his jeweled crown upon it. But the bells did not ring. Sadly, the king turned to leave the church and the people followed.

Then, suddenly, from high in the church, the most heavenly music began to sound out. They all turned to look at the altar, but there was no one there. No one, that is, but a small boy putting two silver coins near the king's crown.

YOU PROBABLY know this story Raymond MacDonald Alden wrote it originally, and Elizabeth Apor McFadden put it into a little play, which I saw our Sunday School children do only last year. It is a simple story, but it stresses the basic teaching of Him whose birth Christmas commemorates, that the way to happiness in our own lives and in the life of the world is to practice love; not only love toward your own, but love toward everybody, whatever their condition, race, color, creed or country.

That is the deep meaning of Christmas. And it is in that spirit that I wish you a very merry Christmas. In the immortal words of Charles Dickens "A Christmas Carol," God bless us every one.

"O Come, All Ye Faithful"

Not many events in history have left their imprint upon the world for centuries. Man has a way of putting behind him the past—forgetting his triumphs, overcoming his defeats—as he faces new challenges in a changing world.

But at Christmas we remember an event of two thousand years ago. Not one of the momentous crises of military or political history! Just the birth of a child... in a stable... in a sleeping town... far away!

Why should such an event, so long ago, still set the world to singing?

It can only be because that event, unlike any other in the world's long history, affected everyone. What happened in Bethlehem twenty centuries ago has never stopped changing people's lives from that day until this!

Because that first Christmas has given you deeper happiness and richer hope—come, with all the faithful, to worship the Lord.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Uncovering The Coverup

There are courts to take care of the legal issues in the case of Owen Lattimore. This is the time for them to uphold the majesty of law and the dignity of man in the best tradition.

But for the issue which falls outside the law, in the province of popular judgment, there is only the ordinary sense of the people. That issue can be judged, too. It was judged on election day.

The influence which Lattimore represented in government became the central factor in a fantastic cover-up. This spread from the 1944 campaign claim that only Franklin D. Roosevelt was competent to conduct foreign policy to the failure of the Department of Justice, before Attorney General McGranery's regime, to act on information in its possession.

The dreary details of the cover-up include the "whitewash" report of the Tydings committee, the subsequent defeat of Sen. Tydings in Maryland, the rise of Sen. McCarthy as the blunt instrument for uncovering the cover-up and the determination of the Truman administration to defend a party record at any cost, including defeat at the polls.

The details also include a war in Korea, the rearrangement of the map of the world and hearthaches in thousands of families which have paid the price in death for the blunders of diplomats.

But chiefly it is the age-old issue of the cover-up which is involved—the same thing which made the Dreyfus case in France a memorable triumph of popular justice.

The Lattimore trial will be on the issue of whether or not he perjured himself while testifying under oath. That was the legal issue in the Alger Hiss trial.

But the trial went far beyond the legal issue, a fact which Hiss understood and which Lattimore understands, too.

The thing to be determined here is whether or not government can be held accountable for their errors.

The Very Idea

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, until a better candidate comes along, wins the all-weather plaque for the best sizeup of 1952 in the field of government.

"Too many people doing too many things. Confusion and wasted effort are the result," he reported to President Truman as spokesman for a group sent abroad to learn about European aid.

European aid is not unique in this respect. It is patterned after the operation of government here at home. There are too many people doing too many things, with results that show up in exorbitant taxes.

In a few more weeks, a new administration is going to tackle this chronic weakness of all governments. Too many people doing too many things is the disease that ruins governments and saps the strength of the civilizations which support them.

Once the bureaucratic parasites fasten themselves on the people whose efforts feed them, they always can prove they need more to eat. But that is never the basic question.

The basic question is whether or not they deserve to be fed. Are they necessary?

Possibly there is a moral in Sawyer's recommendation. He may be recommending obliquely to an incoming administration that "too many people doing too many things" could be lopped off in Washington.

There is no other way to do it.

One Month To The Day

While it is obvious the president-elect can do nothing about the Korean war or anything else until he is inaugurated, it is more important that Harry Truman can do nothing either. He has the power of authority which he can use only in a limited way.

There isn't enough time now for him to start anything which will require waiting. Nor is there any inclination to start anything which might rebound to his successor's credit. At the instant it became evident that Trumanism was not destined to turn into Stevensonism early last November, it became evident that the United States was destined to have no government in fact for nearly three months.

The net effect of the Norris amendment in its first application to the problem of presidential succession when the White House changes hands is to make it clear that the amendment did not go far enough.

Instead of moving the inauguration of a new president forward from March to January, the amendment should have moved the inauguration forward to a point exactly one month from election day.

The United States should have installed a new administration last Dec. 4. Valuable as the briefings and dress rehearsals may prove to be, the Eisenhower cabinet was on the job in Washington, instead of scattered over the country waiting for the arrival of Jan. 20 and the departure of a government which has been marking time since long before election day.

Naval Blockade

By DAVID LAWRENCE

It's A Most Effective Truce Weapon

This is a tale of tragedy that mothers and fathers of boys who are risking their lives in Korea will not be happy to read—and yet it may be one of the things that will cause the Eisenhower administration to consider seriously the wisdom of a naval blockade to help bring peace in the Far East.

Red China needs rubber for tires to be used on trucks and motor vehicles of all kinds and on airplane wheels. These are essential for war operations against American boys and the soldiers of other United Nations battalions.

Rubber has been embargoed, so Red China can't get it from most of the producing areas of the world.

But Ceylon is now exporting rubber to Red China in ever-increasing quantities. Whereas Red China didn't buy much rubber in 1950, the figures show that it stepped up its purchases from Ceylon in 1951 and now has more than trebled the 1951 purchases.

Naturally the American government didn't like it and began making representations about it to Ceylon, which is a British dominion. But since Ceylon isn't a member of the U.N., it has refused to shut off its exports of rubber. Red China, moreover, dangled the promise of rice to the Ceylonese.

Everybody knows China needs rice for its own people and shouldn't be exporting the commodity at all. But the Ceylonese cabinet on October 17, 1952, approved a barter deal whereby the Ceylon government agreed to sell 22,312 tons of rubber for 80,000 tons of rice—a very attractive deal for the Ceylonese.

When a ton of rubber will bring nearly four tons of rice, it is something really alluring to a rice-eating country.

Then the United States government stepped in and blocked the export of refined sulphur to Ceylon. This article is very vital to the care of rubber trees. The British government objected to American policy and saw to it that the Ceylonese got their sulphur out of the American supply which had been exported to Britain.

This tragic circumvention of American objectives is not widely known.

The British argued that they were maintaining their normal pattern of exports, but the United States, conceding this point, tried to put direct pressure on Ceylon to stop rubber exports that were aiding the Red Chinese to kill American boys. Neither Britain nor Malaya sends any rubber to Red China because of the embargo, but the British government has thwarted the American government's efforts to prevent Red China from getting rubber from the only source available to it—Ceylon. Military men are dismayed by the occurrence.

It is thought here that not all the rubber obtained by Red China from Ceylon is going directly to Korea but that some of it is being shipped to Soviet Russia, where most of the weapons and vehicles for the Korean war are manufactured.

Approximately 75,000 tons of rubber are going annually from British colonies to Soviet Russia under an agreement with the United States. So, with a part of the Ceylon quota, the Soviet now is making substantial additions to her armament program in which rubber plays a vital part.

How can the United States put an end to the violations of the spirit as well as the letter of the embargo against the Communist forces in Korea and their suppliers—Soviet Russia? To get from Ceylon, for instance, to Red China ports, Communist vessels are used. In any other war a blockade would be established to search and seize vessels carrying contraband cargoes.

High American officials have refused to impose such a blockade because, as one man phrases it, this would be "an act of war." Yet the Korea operation is bigger than most wars in American history. In fact, the casualties are beginning to compare already with American losses in World War I.

By detaining vessels in the waters of the Indian Ocean and in the South China Sea, our blockading navy could order the ships to turn back to their ports of origin.

Blockades are customary in wartime but in the Korean War, while it has become customary to kill and wound tens of thousands of American boys, still some of the governments allied with us, and supposed to share our views against Communist imperialism, are not cooperating.

It's a sad story which the next administration will have to tackle. For the Truman regime, despite revelations of this kind by committees of Congress, has neglected to impose a blockade, which is one of the most effective ways to put economic pressure on Red China and help force a truce.

Germans Flex Muscles

By PETER CHAMBERS

LONDON

I was in Germany recently for the first time in six years. Memories came crowding in as soon as the train clattered over the frontier into Aachen and I saw the jack-booted policemen and the gothic-letter platform signs and heard that language all around me, like the commiseration of grumpy bears.

June, 1945 . . . Germany had surrendered a few days before and a small detachment of the Royal Navy was careening northward in two-ton trucks to occupy Kiel. The civilians watched us with defeated eyes as our convoy roared through the devastated towns of Northern Germany.

Did they hate us? No, they were too exhausted, too empty, for hate. For them, at last, the long agony was over. Patriotism was finished. Germany was kaput.

The Germans faced a new struggle which had nothing to do with realpolitik or racial destiny. They lined up outside our barracks to search the waste bins for crusts and cabbage stumps.

They bartered their dearest possessions for a kilo of potatoes, for wood, blankets, shelter, bread. Cigarettes were the black-market currency, and they reached the fantastic price of $14 a packet of 20.

We, the occupiers, lived apart from it all. A Russian ship was moored 500 yards from us along the jetty, and I recall that, already in 1945, mutual suspicion between the Allies was evident.

The Russian sailors were not encouraged to mix with us, and our commanding officer carefully avoided issuing us a direct order to salute Russian officers.

In the interest of solidarity, I saluted every Russian officer punctiliously.

We used to spend a lot of time in the club drinking champagne and liqueurs which the Germans had looted out of France. Outside the bright windows stretched the endless desolation of Germany. Germany was kaput, we said. The Germans were finished. This country wasn't on its knees—it was crawling on its stomach. I was glad, after a year, to get out of the waste land. It was a sour, drab and desperate place.

The Germany I discovered in 1952 was a very different place. The shops were loaded with goods, where six years ago you couldn't buy a hairpin. The people were lively and energetic. Dazzling white concrete buildings had sprung up out of the mountainous ruins. The Germans were on their feet again and flexing their muscles.

Smoke is pluming out of the factory chimneys in the Ruhr Valley, the biggest industrial concentration in Europe. Exports, nearly doubled between 1950 and 1951, went up again this year.

What of the Germans themselves? My own impression is that their militarist spirit was broken by the World War II, just as France's was by the first. No Germans were rushing to get into uniform again. Typically, they say that: "Above all, we don't want another war. Above all, we want a united Germany."

The Germans do not like having British, American and French troops on their soil, but they would like the Russians a lot worse. "Tell your countrymen," a former Wehrmacht officer said, "that we are grateful for your soldiers. Their presence has saved us from the mammoth in the east."

Many people have stopped thinking about the mammoth in the east altogether. They read the horoscopes, the articles on spiritualism and magic, which fill the German press. This is the kind of escape which appeals to the streak of irrationalism, the Faustlike sense of nature-communing, in the German soul.

In other respects, they have all the solid, disciplined, bourgeois virtues. When they go gay, as they do on the Rhine in the autumn, they rush about in charabancs, wearing paper hats and singing community songs.

It's Still A Secret

The Lattimore Case

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Great historic errors are never made by the people of a country; they do not know enough of what is going on. The errors are made by officials, by individuals, sometimes whimsically, sometimes wilfully.

Responsibility is often avoided by the mighty by the simple device of shifting the blame to smaller men who can hardly defend themselves.

Often the people do not really know what has been done to them until decades have passed, archives have been opened and the appalling truth exposed, long after any remedial measures are possible.

IN THIS COUNTRY, we are fortunate that no man is too great, no office so sacrosanct that a Congressional committee might not uncover the actual facts of a situation if it is so minded. The Owen Lattimore indictment is a case in point.

The Lattimore testimony before the McCarran committee consumed 817 pages of printed record. It was an amazing performance, often a violent denunciation of the committee and its processes. I cite one brilliant example of the double skip, the ability to talk plentifully but not to answer the question:

"Sen. Ferguson—Might I ask a question there? Did you intend to influence the people in the State Department?"

"Mr. Lattimore—The program of the Institute of Pacific Relations was perfectly clear, senator. I was to make available on the market, the market of ideas, the most accurate information that it could assemble on the subject of the Far East, so that those who were interested could use that information as they themselves saw best."

"The Chairman—Now, I would like to have you answer the question."

"Sen. Ferguson—Answer my question: Did you intend to influence the State Department?"

"Mr. Lattimore—We intended to contribute to the general fund of knowledge about the Far East. Any question of a particular intent to interest the State Department as a policy-making organ of the government was, to the extent of my knowledge, never dreamed of."

THE McCARRAN Committee established that it was the purpose and activity of the Institute of Pacific Relations to influence the Far Eastern policy of the State Department and its implementation.

Owen Lattimore was editor of "Pacific Affairs," the principal publication of the I.P.R. Together with E. C. Carter, Frederick Vanderbilt Field and, for a period, Joseph Baner, he was a powerful figure in this international organization.

Lattimore's bravado broke down after E. C. Carter's barn at Lee, Massachusetts, was raided and the files found were taken to Washington. Those files contained thousands of documents, some of considerable significance in the development of the great American tragedy, our China policy.

Until these files were examined, little confirmatory evidence was available to show the extent of the I.P.R.'s activities. The files disclosed the entire story.

No one has denied the authenticity of these files or of any document taken from them, and no one could, because the files contained original documents, some typewritten, some in longhand, some with marginal notes.

AT ONE POINT, Lattimore said, "Am I a citizen of America, or a subject of Czechoslovakia or France or Spain? Am I expected to run around snooping on my fellow citizens?"

"Sen. O'Connor . . . That statement is entirely unnecessary. The question of Sen. Ferguson did not call for any such outburst at all. Now, will you kindly confine yourself to the question that is asked, and I think if it is answered in the same manner in which the question is asked, there will be no difficulty."

This sort of thing went on for days. In spite of an obvious effort to confuse the committee, Lattimore contradicted himself. It is on the basis of these contradictions, carefully culled from the record, that the McCarran committee cited Owen Lattimore to the attorney general for perjury.

Attorney General McGranery put a staff to work on the record, with the result that some of the contradictions, the ones which in the view of the government's lawyer were not lapses of memory, but deliberate falsehoods, were placed before the Federal Grand Jury in Washington for an indictment. That Grand Jury voted a number of witnesses and voted the indictment unanimously.

That does not establish Owen Lattimore's guilt. It merely gives him his day in court where he may, if he can, disprove the charges. However, a case such as this, if properly handled in the courts, can open many doors which are now closed.

Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: I have been having trouble again with inward-looking goofs who try to spoil my Christmas with introspection.

These birds—both sexes—try to tell me every year just before Christmas that the thing has gone out of control and must be regarded as dangerous because it no longer suits them.

They scoff at it, make fun of the multiple Santa Clauses, complain because it's over-commercialized and yelp because things are being done in the name of Christmas which would not have met with the approval of the Master.

Well, I suppose there's no argument about that, though I wonder sometimes how people can be so sure what the Master would have approved. But I don't believe his disapproval of any of the modern observances would entail disapproval of our modern Christmas.

It's America, at its best and worst. It's the America which spews out the geegaws and frimframs of materialism like weenies, figures the profit close to the best, then gives away a billion bucks to the shoeless to prove its heart is in the right place.

Have you ever read about any other country which ever gave away money, my dear relative? Have you ever heard of a country which is supposed to be full of isolationists, yet has a soft place in its heart for every appeal from abroad?

But there are Americans who, for psychological reasons which are impossible for me to understand, feel they are under some kind of compulsion to be ashamed of America. They're especially ashamed at Christmas, which has turned into a typical outburst of everything America stands for.

It's priceless jewels and tawdry tinsels, "I Saw Mama Kissing Santa Claus" and "Silent Night," vulgarity and sensitivity, generosity and stinginess, the honky-tonk and the cathedral, Korea and Main Street.

It's America, where contradiction is still possible.

I accept it for what it is. I do not insist that it should be what I might think it should be. Fact is, I wouldn't change it a darned bit.

I have seen more Christmases than I like to remember, particularly in December when the hours of darkness are closing in. And I wouldn't have changed one of them. You might say I have seen the invention of the kind of Christmas we now have. Once upon a time, Christmas was frugal enough to suit any of my friends who now try to tell me it's too hilarious and materialistic.

That's America and more power to it—as long as we remember to share with others who are not so well off as we are. I think we're handling that situation pretty well. See you Christmas Eve and may this be the merriest one ever, for everybody!

Fair Warning

In a few days the peculiar madness known as the office party will be in full swing, and a not-too-sane manifestation of the Christmas season will be busting out all over. . . . The aging boss, a model of behavior most of the time, will want to play leapfrog with the stenographer who is something of a frustrated burlesque queen. . . . THE LITTLE PEOPLE'S CHRISTMAS

Christmas Presents

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—You can't buy Santa Claus. The true spirit of Christmas isn't for sale.

But that doesn't keep a lot of people from trying to do it every year.

Some of the absurdities of the current season is the report that $50 neckties of velvet and gold are having a brisk sale in North Carolina. They are designed to be given as presents for "men who have everything already."

It would depress me if someone sent me such a necktie (and, if you were planning to do so, please send the cash instead). For one thing I hate a bargain basement feature. Anyone who sends you a $50 necktie isn't trying to please you so much as he is trying to impress you.

And only a piker would be impressed by a $50 necktie today. After all there are $150 neckties on the market. Who wants to be bought cheap?

Economists and sociologists now regard gifts like $50 to $150 neckties as not only wasteful but economically immoral. To me, even when sent by men of wealth to each other as a joke they can well afford, they are just sad.

They may make fine "conversation pieces," but what kind of conclusion can you draw from the conversations? Only how easy it is to throw money away on something useless. I hate this conclusion because I have a vast respect for money and the wonderful good that can be done with it.

The evidence of what money cannot do is all about us. And one of the times you see this best is at Christmas. Many a wife who gets a $4,000 fur coat from her husband would rather know the warmth of his old love again than the warmth of his gift.

What makes a real Christmas present? The thought and understanding behind it. Only that kindles the bonfire of the heart, not the number of dollars spent. This is particularly true of children, whose rich relatives often try vainly to make them happy with costly gifts but fail because they do not know there is a better way. You cannot bribe a child long if he discovers you don't really understand him.

I remember as a child a poor little rich boy who lived up the street in a fine apartment building came to our house on Christmas morning.

"What did you get?" he said practically.

"An orange, a sweater, a sled," I said, "and"—I held up a squirming puppy—"this!"

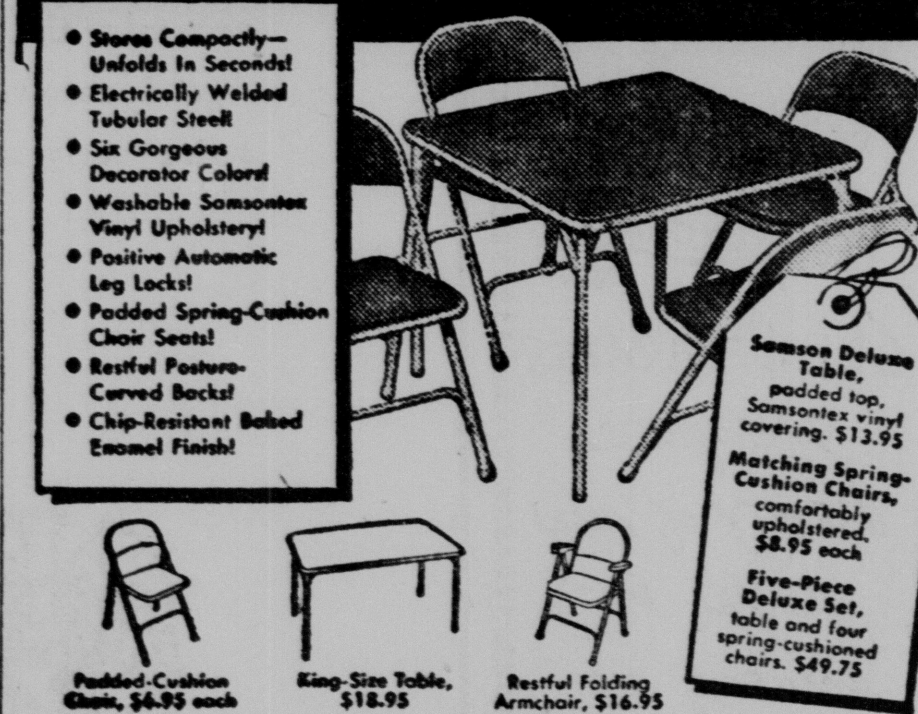

The rich kid went crazy over the puppy, and we played with it for a long time. Later we went up to see his presents. The floor was covered with toys—fancy electric trains, chemistry sets, an indoor golf course—and all were expensive. I felt a kind of dumb wonder, there were so many.

The other kid, his dad and I got down on the floor and began operating the electric train. Suddenly the little rich boy looked up and his face crinkled in passionate crying.

½ teaspoon allspice
¾ teaspoon cloves
2 1-lb. cans jellied cranberry sauce

3 cups water
1 qt. pineapple juice
cinnamon sticks

New Castle Tramples Hapless Quakers By 68-36 Score

First Game At Home Turns Into Rout; Foes Rack Up 4th Win In 5 Season Starts

By SANDY HANSELL
"It was a long night."
That was the comment of one disgruntled Salem fan last night as he left the Salem gym, where a rough, tough New Castle, Pa. quintet trampled the seemingly hapless Salem Quakers, 68-36.

Scoring almost at will, New Castle held big point leads throughout the game as Salem never really got started. With Dal Matthews (12) and Bob Bleggi (34) hitting long set shots, and lanky George Strehler, ace pivotman, scoring heavily from around the keyhole, New Castle jumped out to a 23-8 lead in the first quarter and the slaughter was on.

Strehler, averaging over 20 points a game, netted five baskets and a foul shot in the first quarter while Bleggi meshed three long set shots. Scoring on jump pivot shots which were almost impossible to block, Strehler collected 19 points in the first half.

HE PICKED UP four more markers in the third before being benched midway in the period.

Salem, putting on its worst exhibition of the year, was clearly outplayed and outthought all down the line. The passing was bad, the shots were hurried and ill-timed, and rebounding was sorely lacking. New Castle would continually get four or five shots at a time before Salem could get the ball.

Playing their first home game, the Quakers seemed tight and ill-at-ease in front of the home folks. When New Castle started rolling up the points, the local lads started pressing and trying too hard, falling completely apart.

New Castle was hot, very hot, in the opening minutes, and it seemed that before anyone had time to catch his breath, the Quakers were far behind.

Faculty Manager Jack Mills of New Castle said after the game that this was the snappiest he'd even seen a New Castle team. "If we had played you on any other night, it would have been a close game," he said.

Coach Johnny Cabas was sadly disappointed in his team's showing. "The team fell completely apart after the score got up there. They threw the ball away, they weren't waiting for their shots, and they didn't mix it up," he lamented.

THE AGGRESSIVE Pennsylvanians held a 35-16 lead at the half, due mainly to the play of Strehler and Bleggi. Starting the third quarter, New Castle scored 9 consecutive points, quickly dispelling any hopes Salem might have had for a comeback.

They led 53-26 at the third quarter, and with reserves playing out the string for both teams, New Castle still managed to outscore the locals in the final period racking up their fourth win in five games this season.

Cabas said the 32 point shellacking was the worst beating he had ever received as a coach.

An indication as to how much New Castle monopolized the tilt can be gotten from the shot statistics which show them taking 92 shots from the field. Of the 92 shots—57 in the first half—New Castle made 26 for a 28.3 percentage. Salem getting only a meager 45 tries—less than half of New Castle's—caged 12 for 26.7 per cent.

At the foul line, Salem made 12 of 32 charity tosses, with New Castle registering 16 of 26. The tilt was fairly clean, only 16 fouls being called on Salem and 18 on New Castle.

BILL BUCKMAN again was the leading scorer for the Quakers, netting 10 markers. Ed Votaw had 7, Strehler's 23, and Bleggi's and Francis Anastasia's (23) 12 each led New Castle.

Salem will try to get on the winning track tonight at Canton when they battle Canton Central Catholic, attempting to rebound from last night's fiasco, they hope to record their first victory of the season against 3 rather disappointing setbacks.

The game, starting at 7, will be held in the gym located on Route 30 between Canton and Massillon. It's a large building on the left hand side of the road about one-and-a-half or two miles outside of Canton on the way to Massillon.

Next Tuesday, they will travel to Sebring to meet the red-hot Trojans, winners of four straight basketball games. The next home game is Friday, Dec. 26, when Cleveland West will appear here. Game time for that game only will be 7 p.m.

Indians Lead In Statistics

Rosen, Doby Take Slugging Honors

NEW YORK (AP)—How come the Cleveland Indians failed to win the 1952 American League pennant?

That question becomes even more difficult to answer today with the release of the official American League slugging and runs batted in statistics. Larry Doby, the Indians' outfielder, took slugging laurels and Al Rosen, the Tribe's third baseman, the runs batted in title.

Doby, who also won the home run crown with 32, topped the sluggers with a .541 mark while Rosen drove in 105 runs.

In addition, Rosen, at .524, was third in the slugging derby behind runner-up Mickey Mantle of New York, who finished with .530. First baseman Luke Easter, also of Cleveland, was fourth with .513.

Rosen just managed to edge out Doby and Chicago's Eddie Robinson in the runs batted in race. Both Doby and Robinson knocked in 104 tallies. Gus Zernial of Philadelphia had an even 100 RBIs, the only other American Leaguer to reach that figure.

Too, the Indians as a team batted in the most runs, 749.

Doby and Mantle, the league's top sluggers, each struck out 111 times to lead in that department.

Among the five major league records broken were two by the New York Yankees. The world champs hit 100 or more homers for the 29th year and won the pennant for the 19th season.

Records tied included Walt Dropp's 12 consecutive hits and the two no-hit games pitched by Virgil Trucks.

Slack Floor Winner In Basketball Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Five thousand fans gathered at the Cow Palace last night to see which basketball team—Southern California or St. Mary's—would polish off the other.

Players slipped and fell in the warmups. To the sidelines they went while 50 eager youngsters in the crowd started working. They tried water. They tried popcorn salt. They tried corn meal. Then resins. Next more water.

An hour and a quarter later the game was called. The slick floor had polished off both teams.

Pittsburgh To Play Ohio State Tonight

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Something new will be added when Pittsburgh invades the Fairgrounds Coliseum tonight for a basketball tussle with Ohio State's Buckeyes.

Players will be allotted six personal fouls instead of the regular five. After a player commits his third personal foul in the first half, he must be benched. He may return for the second half of play until he is charged with his third violation.

The experiment was suggested by Dr. H. C. Carlson, Pitt coach, and agreed to by OSU Coach Floyd Stahl.

Rickey Is Optimistic About His Pirates

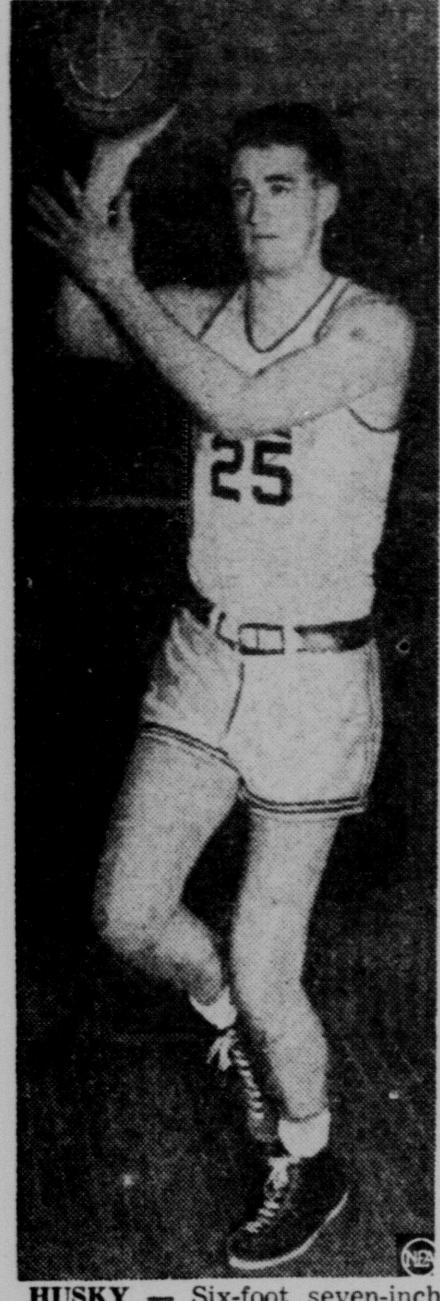

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Branch Rickey is 71 today and just as optimistic as ever about the chances of his Pittsburgh Pirates.

In fact, "I am more optimistic—ten times more—than at any time in the past two years about my club," says Rickey, the club's general manager.

Pittsburgh finished in last place in the National League this past season.

WANTS RETURN BOUT

CLEVELAND (AP)—Joey Maxim, who lost the lightweight championship to Archie Moore Wednesday, says he hopes for a return bout in February or March. Joey, a delicatessen store owner, adds he won't quit the ring until possibly 1954 and that he intends to enter more fights now that he is not the champ.

HUSKY — Six-foot seven-inch Center Bob Houbregs is one big reason why Washington figures to cop the northern division of the Pacific Coast Conference basketball championship in a breeze and rank high in national polls.

Greenberg Trades Rozek For Hooper

CLEVELAND (AP)—Hank Greenberg announced his first deal of the off-season for the Cleveland Indians today, trading southpaw pitcher Dick Rozek for right hander Bob Hooper of the Philadelphia Athletics.

The Indians general manager said he was getting, in Hooper, who is 30, a "seasoned hurler" who might help the club immediately and giving up a promising younger pitcher. Rozek is 25.

Hooper won eight and lost 15 for the A's last year and was used exclusively in relief late in the season.

He has this in his favor: He is one of the few pitchers with a winning lifetime mark against the New York Yankees, having beaten them four times and losing three.

Brown Won't Comment On Playoff Game

CLEVELAND (AP)—Except for hoping the winners get ahead quickly and run up a comfortable score, Coach Paul Brown has no opinions on Sunday's playoff between Detroit and Los Angeles.

Brown's Cleveland Browns meet the winners the following Sunday for the National League championship and the super-efficient coach doesn't want to "waste any time at Detroit scouting the losers"—which he might have to do in a tight tilt.

But he offers no guesses on which will win and says it makes no difference to him or his "kids."

Bevo Francis Scores 76 Points In Game

JACKSON, Ky. (AP)—Little Rio Grande College won its 15th consecutive game without a loss Friday night, defeating Lees College, 102-62, with big Bevo Francis flipping in 76 points.

It was freshman Bevo's top performance of the season, beating his 72-point output last week again. California State Teachers of Pennsylvania. Bevo is averaging over 45 points per game.

Lane May Play Against Lions

Rams Are Rated 3-Point Underdogs

DETROIT (AP)—Could the so-called miracle happen?

Could Dick (Night Train) Lane, the Los Angeles Rams' fabulous pass interceptor, recover from a severely injured leg in time to guard the Detroit Lions' ace pass-catcher end, Cloyce Box, Sunday?

From out of a closed-door Ram workout Friday filtered word that Lane ran for the first time since his injury six days ago. However his knee was still somewhat swollen.

Lane's presence in the lineup would increase the Rams' chance to win the post-season playoff game to determine the National Conference winner.

The Rams are now three-point underdogs locally.

The game will be nationally televised. A blackout originally scheduled for Michigan and Toledo, O., stations was lifted Friday night, thus enabling thousands in Michigan and surrounding area to watch the game.

A crowd of 50,000, maybe more, was expected to jam the 53,000 seat Briggs Stadium. The forecast called for temperatures of approximately freezing.

The winner will represent the National Conference Dec. 28 in the National Football League title game against the American Conference champion Browns at Cleveland.

Fairfield Defeats Greenford 52 To 43

Fairfield eagles handed Greenford its seventh loss of the season last night at Greenford, 52 to 43. Don Blosser, with 17 points, led the way for Fairfield, but he was not outdone by Ed Cibula of Greenford, who accounted for five baskets and six free throws for 16 points.

Greenford's Bill Ferguson scored 12 points and Beck got three additional baskets.

Greenford, whose reserves beat Fairfield 33-29, faces Springfield next Tuesday night.

Bryant To Remain As Kentucky Coach

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Paul (Bear) Bryant has answered a question which had bluegrass football fans in a stew by saying he'll remain as Kentucky coach.

The Bear, secure with a contract that runs through 1962, was boozed for the grid job at Arkansas, his home state. Apparently he could have it for the asking.

He conferred with Kentucky trustees and its athletics association directors two and a half hours Friday. Their announcement:

"Coach Bryant assured the boards... that he eagerly looked forward to his continued association with the University of Kentucky."

VALUABLE PLAYER

CLEVELAND (AP)—End Mac Speedie is the most valuable Cleveland Brown this year, the Cleveland Touchdown Club says.

The club announced he would receive the annual award at a banquet Jan. 15. Other Browns who have won it are quarterback Otto Graham, lineman Bill Willis and place kicker Lou Groza.

Reserves Trim New Castle By 7 Points

Spurting in the third quarter, the Salem Reserves chalked up their first win of the current campaign, outpointing the New Castle Reserves, 44-37.

Sparked by Kenny Bosu, who registered six points in the initial period, Salem held a 12-6 lead at the end of the first quarter. New Castle fought back from behind to hold a slim 19-18 halftime bulge.

The Quakers, catching fire, poured it on during the third quarter, rolling up 17 points to New Castle's 14 to lead 35-33 at the end of the third quarter.

Dick Hunter dropped in 11 counters to give Salem a 35-24 advantage midway in the period, but New Castle scored nine consecutive points to come within 2 points of tying up the game at 35-33.

Freezing the ball, Salem outscored New Castle in the last period to win handily, 44-37.

Hunter, scoring 13 points in all, led the scoring department, followed by Bosu and Baird, with 10 points each. Craig McBurney paced New Castle with 12 markers.

Four-Ball Golf Tournament In Quarterfinals

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Home-town and foreign talent played a dominant role today as the $13,000 International Four-Ball golf tournament entered the quarterfinal round with many of the American big-name pros on the sidelines.

Joining the list of giant killers in Friday's second round were a pair of obscure Miami club pros, Buddy Godwin and Lloyd Wadkins. They scored a startling 1-up victory over national open Champion Julius Boros, Mid Pines, N. C., and Doug Ford, Harrison, N. Y.

This occurred just a few minutes after a Canadian team of Pat Fletcher and Stan Leonard had bumped out Jack Burke, Houston, Tex., last week's winner of the $10,000 Miami Open, and his partner, Jimmy Demaret, Concord, N. Y., 1-up.

Two 18-hole rounds were scheduled today, the quarterfinals in the morning and the semifinals in the afternoon. The Sunday final will be over the 36-hole route.

Trabert Is Winner Over Fausto Gardini

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The Australians became fully aware today that, in Tony Trabert, the Americans have an extremely capable second singles player for them to face in the coming Davis Cup challenge round.

Trabert, from Cincinnati, O., pulled out all the stops today in trouncing Italy's crack youngster, Fausto Gardini 6-3, 5-7, 7-5 and 6-3.

Australian experts unanimously agreed that Tony is more dangerous right now than he was a year ago despite the fact that he had spent time in the Navy.

Graham Wins On Split Decision

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—Chairman Bob Christenberry of the New York State Athletic Commission is in the middle of an old-fashioned rhabarb because he reversed an official's score card to give Billy Graham a split decision win over Joe Giardello in the usual Friday night confusion at Madison Square Garden.

The television customers must be shocked. They heard Giardello proclaimed the winner. Then a few minutes later ring announcer Johnny Addie made Joey "an unofficial winner, subject to a review of the cards."

Long after the disgruntled crowd of 3,228 paying $8.864 had left the darkened Garden, Christenberry came up with his reversal that made Graham the winner. Graham, a New Yorker, incidentally weighed 148 to 151½ for the Philadelphia counter puncher. Judge Joe Agnello's card, originally scored for Giardello 6-4 in rounds, was the one that upset Christenberry. Agnello had scored the 10th round for Giardello while both the other officials gave it to Graham.

Christenberry, in a move believed to be unprecedented, changed the 10th round. Instead of a one point round for Giardello, he made it a two point round for Graham on the Agnello card. He also changed the fourth round from a one-point for Graham to a two-point for Graham.

As a result Agnello's final and "official" card came out even 5-5 in rounds with Graham the winner on points 7-6. That was the decisive ballot as the other officials split. Judge Charley Shortell found for Graham 7-3 and Referee Ray Miller voted for Giardello 5-4-1. The AP card had Graham on top 6-4. A poll of writers at ringside showed six for Graham, one for Giardello and two voting a draw.

The switch brought wild confusion to the gamblers. Who gets paid? Graham, a 2-1 favorite, becomes the "official" winner on the reversal. That's the way it will go into the record book. Still the original announcement of the officials' votes gave it to Giardello. It's all most confusing.

"It was my honest opinion that the man (Graham) was entitled to it," said Christenberry as he made the reversal in the officials' dressing room. "I'd quit rather than condone anything else."

The small crowd made as much noise as a full house in venting its disapproval of the original verdict while a heartbroken Graham stood with head down in his corner. The fans crowded around ringside, hurling insults at the officials.

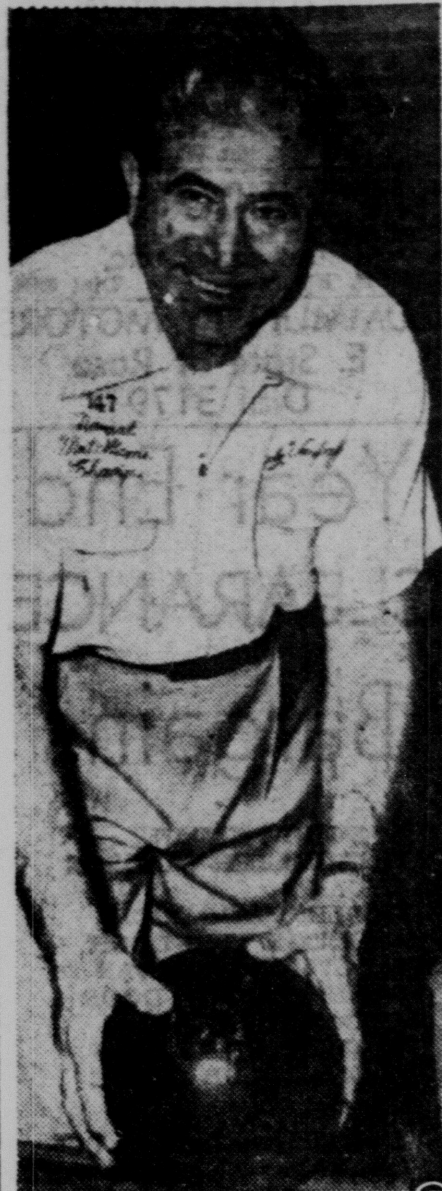

Graham, loser of a disputed split decision to Kid Gavilan in an Aug. 29, 1951, bout, was called the "uncrowned champ" for over a year until he was soundly beaten by Gavilan in Havana last October. He had made loud protests about a split decision loss to Giardello last Aug. 4 at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway. This final blow seemed too much.

"What do I have to do to win in my home town?" he moaned. Christenberry's later visit with the good news brought a grin to his face.

As might be expected there was a violent reaction in the camp of Giardello. Tony Ferrante, Giardello's manager, said he would take the case to his lawyer to test the legality of the commission's action.

In the meantime, the International Boxing Club announced a Jan. 9 Garden bout between Giardello and Rocky Castellani.

Christenberry said his action meant "no reflection on the honesty and integrity of Mr. Agnello." He said he understood former Commissioners Jim Farley and John J. Phelan had reversed decisions.

NOT HIS YEAR — Andy Varipapa failed to make the semi-final grade in the National Individual Match Game Championships in Chicago. The best the Hempstead, N. Y. veteran could do in the 24-game test was 45-20. He is the only bowler ever to win the crown two years in succession.

Rayen's Final Period Spurt Sinks Lisbon

LISBON—Youngstown Rayen poured on the steam in the last period here last night to cheat Lisbon out of its second victory.

Lisbon took an early lead in the tightly-fought encounter and managed to hold a four-point margin as the game entered the final bracket.

Rayen, paced by Timlin with 16 points to his credit, ran up 21 points in the fourth stanza while the Blue Devils managed to account for 14. Lisbon was better on the foul line than Rayen.

Lisbon Reserves bowed, 45-32. Lisbon plays Boardman at Struthers fieldhouse Dec. 30.

Starting off two points behind in the first quarter, New Waterford surged to the lead by half time and retained a comfortable lead throughout the remainder of the game to beat Salineville by a score of 51 to 40 in a cage game played last night at Salineville.

Wynn Hawkins set the pace for the victors by scoring 16 points; Albert Brammer was high scorer for Salineville.

The New Waterford cagers have now won five out of their six season games. Their next match will be played Jan. 6 when they meet Fairfield at home.

New Waterford's reserves lost their game against their opponents Friday by a score of 41 to 18.

OEA Adopts Program To Ask State For School Aid Funds

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — The Ohio Education Association wound up its 31st annual convention today after adopting a legislative program asking the state for more financial help in school assistance.

A 21-point program proposed to the 650 delegates by the OEA's executive committee was rushed through with only minor changes.

One proposal in the legislative program adopted earlier in the day is to ask the 100th General Assembly to hike the state guaranteed minimum level from the present $125 to $150 per elementary pupil and from $150 to $180 per high school pupil.

Another will urge legislators to raise the flat distribution to all pupils from $57 to $75 per elementary student and from $67 to $90 per high school student.

All public schools get the same flat distribution fees from the state. However, the state contributes toward the minimum level only what the districts fail to collect locally.

An increase of 12 million dollars to aid new building construction, building rehabilitation and equipment for distressed areas; an increase of 6½ million in state aid for school bus purchases, and a raise in the starting and top salary limits under the state teachers minimum salary law are other major points urged in the program.

Other plans in the OEA legislative program include:

Creation of a state board of education by constitutional amendment, increased state support for vocational education and handicapped children, abolition of the 14 school districts which do not maintain schools, allocation of 100 per cent of the state film censorship fees to the state department of education (50 per cent is now allocated), and continuation of the present 8 per cent debt limitation to enable school boards to raise more funds locally for school building construction.

Carl H. Shanks of Wilmington was elected new OEA president without opposition. W. R. Gongwer of Columbus was named vice president.

Named to the OEA Educational Council, research organization, were:

D. L. Arnold of Kent, E. W. Bash of Lorain, Kate L. Boyce of Dayton, Velma A. Frye of Deer Park, Mary B. Hannabery of Springfield, Leonore Holliday of Cincinnati, Paul A. Miller of Warren, E. F. Reichelderfer of Columbus, John S. Rinehart of Perrysburg and Harold K. Smith of Lancaster.

The Ohio County Superintendents Association, meeting in conjunction with the OEA, elected Samuel E. Martin of Tiffin, president; W. A. Driscoll of Dayton vice president, and T. C. Knapp of Canton secretary-treasurer.

Other new officers named by groups were:

Ohio Exempted Village Superintendents Association: D. B. Roeder, Newcomerstown, president; John S. Rinehart, Perrysburg, vice president, and Ralph H. Mikesell, Eaton, secretary-treasurer.

Council of City Teachers Association: Leonore Holliday, Cincinnati, president; Paul Blair, Belaire, vice president, and Ruth Blocher, Dayton, secretary-treasurer.

Ohio Association of School Administrators: T. C. Knapp, Canton, president; Ira Baumgartner, Sylvania, vice president, and W. B. Bahner, Cuyahoga Heights, re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Ohio Elementary Principals Association: Mrs. Sue Beeghly of Dayton, Robert L. Nash of Columbus and Doyt C. Shaffer of Lima re-elected president, vice president and secretary-treasurer respectively.

of the Dayton Wright Company. During the second world war he served as director of aircraft production for the War Production Board.

Eisenhower also named Roger M. Kyes, 46, of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., deputy secretary of defense. Mike Wilson, under whom he will serve, Kyes is a General Motors executive-general manager of the coach division.

All of the defense high command appointees are Republicans except Anderson. All are resigning their private jobs.

Aides said Eisenhower is delighted about the business backgrounds of all of the men and that he feels their experience should assure savings without endangering national defense.

During the campaign Eisenhower pledged repeatedly to work for a cut in federal spending. He reportedly feels there is room for savings in the military field, where he has spent most of his life.

In completing selection of top civilians in the defense set-up, Eisenhower also let it be known he wants to name another woman to a post in the new administration. Mrs. Mary B. Lord of New York conferred with the general yesterday and said afterward that he had authorized her to say he had offered her a job. She said she was considering the offer and would decide in a few days.

Mrs. Lord was co-chairman of the National Citizens for Eisenhower Committee.

ed districts are those which are unable to finance school services because a government project has brought an influx of workers whose children overtax existing facilities.

Another type of impacted district is one where federal acquisition of land and property removes it from the local tax rolls and reduces the tax income for school purposes. McConnell said aid to these hard-up areas was "a definite one" for Congress to supply. "That's where they need help from the government."

But at the same time, McConnell ruled out proposals for general federal aid for maintenance and operation of schools—such items as payment of teachers salaries, or financing of auxiliary services like school bus transportation. McConnell said he considered use of school funds a state and local matter, and not one for the federal government.

tivity around the supposedly deserted gas station.

Manheim, who lives on plush Park Avenue in New York City, was seized when he drove up to the station with Frank Connell, 49, of Brooklyn. Although Connell claimed he was just along for the ride, he was accused of being in charge of shipping the cache.

Last night a third man, 35-year-old Jose Duarte, was arrested in nearby Yonkers, N. Y. Hoy named Duarte as purchaser of the munitions. Police said at least two others were being sought.

All three men were arraigned and charged with felonious possession of firearms. Manheim was released in $1,500 bail. Connell and Duarte were held without bail in Westchester County jail pending a hearing for the trio next Tuesday.

Manheim, saying he had federal, state and New York City licenses for the storage, possession and transportation of arms and ammunition, added:

"It is standing procedure in the arms business to accumulate inventories for a customer pending his getting licenses and documents for them."

Manheim said the cache was made of surplus Army materials.

ous" admission of all 14 applicants.

In addition to the five Communist states, the Polish resolution called for the admission of Finland, Ireland, Austria, Portugal, Italy, Libya, Jordan, Nepal and Ceylon—all Western-supported applicants.

Soviet bloc members said they favored the applications of Libya and Jordan but would oppose their separate introduction. The Communist nations voted against both when they were brought up in an Arab-sponsored resolution. But the committee approved the two overwhelmingly by identical votes of 49-5 with 5 abstentions.

Japan won approval 48-5 (Soviet bloc) with six abstentions, and the three Indo-Chinese states were passed by identical votes of 38-5 with 16 abstentions.

The committee also passed a resolution sponsored by five Central American countries putting the whole question of new members and how to break the impasse up to a special 22-member committee which would report its findings to the next session of the Assembly. The vote was 45-5 (also Soviet bloc) with 8 abstentions. Russia and her allies in the U. N. blasted the proposal to bring in Japan.

ocrat who had fought Eisenhower's election and advocated repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor act.

In addition, Taft reportedly had been irked that his Cabinet recommendations had not been given greater consideration, and that a number of close associates of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, liked his party rival, had been picked by Eisenhower for top spots in the new administration.

Republican senators felt, however, that Carlson had taken pains to flash the signal that Eisenhower wanted to avoid a quarrel with Taft and would not oppose his selection as floor leader.

Carlson met with Eisenhower in New York last Tuesday and told reporters afterwards that he presumed Taft would get the leadership post if he wanted it and that he would be for him.

Up to that time Taft had said only that he was "available" for floor leader, refraining from announcing that he was a candidate.

Both Bridges and Knowland were in the picture—Bridges as the senior Republican who took the post last year to head off a threatened clash between Taft and Eisenhower supporters for the GOP presidential nomination, and Knowland as an avowed candidate if Bridges didn't want the job.

Shortly after Taft announced he had assurances from Bridges and Knowland that they were not seeking the post, Knowland said at his home in Oakland, Calif., that he had withdrawn from the race "in the interests of a united Republican party."
